

up if there.

3. I forwarded the letter ~~to~~ you so kindly enclosed to me, & your friend in Cheltenham (about the Class book used for Optics at Dow Univ^t) but I have had no reply - don't b^t he is off Whiday-making. But I was so stupid as to make no note of his name - & to forget it! Will you kindly mention it once again, & if he is at Bristol I might find him out.

4. If you come, I will bring my Ms. book of Observations to send to Dr. Farby by you: if you sh^t go to Belgium - & if not, to forward by some express Parcel Company.

And I think & hope that's all -

~~My~~ My wife sends her kin love & is very much thanked you about the Prom? note - it was at her brother's request - I had asked you the same question before & been quite - satisfied into your kind reply: but he it seems, was uneasy about it - as he would willingly have reviewed the notes if necessary.

He came back on Sat^r. even^r from a very delightful "acting" in Wales. When will you get yours - you must want it. Don't you consider the Report of the Science Com^r in - favourable to the views of your friends? I don't understand the diplomacy of these matters sufficiently to know much about ~~them~~ it - & much the better perhaps for me. As a member of the British Ass^r I would claim a portion of one of his long ears - but that that and implying a facility of hearing news which I don't possess - No. I have got it now. I am before a dark one of the Bristles of his tail - as well as

N.B. if you [Your very affectionate old friend are so kind as] to reply by return, I shall get it before starting on Wednesday. S. W. Webb
